Religious Observances No Disqualification in Murder Trials.

The court of appeals, in its recent decision affirming judgment convicting Giuseppe Constantino of murder in the first degree in killing Pietro Galotti at Utica, held, among other things, that the fact that during the trial the jury, in charge of officers, attended church, where the sermon was upon the prevalence of crime, was insufficient to justify a new trial, when it was shown that the officers, as soon as they discovered that anything might be said which could prejudice the jury, at once left the church with them, and that the trial judge thereupon stated to the jury, and at the close of the trial charged them, that no opinion uttered by the preacher should have the slightest weight upon their minds in forming their verdict. The evidence, says the New York Times, showed that the murder was committed in an affray, and that there was an interval of from half a minute to two minutes for deliberation while the defendant was threatening the fatal act. The court held it was not an error for the judge, in charging the jury upon the question whether there was sufficient time for such a degree of deliberation and premeditation as would constitute the crime, to illustrate a minute of time by his watch. The power conferred on the court of appeals by sections 528 and 542 of the code of criminal procedure to order a new trial in capital cases was not to be exercised upon the mere appearance of some error to which no exception was taken, unless the substantial rights of the accused could be seen to have been affected by it.

Hannah Brewer Equals the Queen in Years of Service.

Hannah Brewer, the old Bitton postmistress, who has just joined the ranks of the superannuated, has recently told a representative of the London Daily Mail that she has been delivering letters without intermission during the whole 60 years of the queen's reign. She began when a child of 12, and during her many years of service had walked 250,000 miles. Her father was subpostmaster of the village, and the district she covered consisted of the scattered hamlets lying between Wick and Bitton, on the borders of Gloucester. Her daily round was 11 miles in all weathers, and included many steep hills. Although the district is sparsely populated, the old lady said she had never been robbed, stopped or molested in any way. Her travels, apart from her daily visitations, have never extended beyond Bath or Bristol, and since 1802 she has lived alone, those related to her being too poor to render her any assistance. Notwithstanding the hardships she has undergone, old Hannah Brewer has enjoyed good health during her term of office. Her absences from duty, she said, had been very few indeed, and now, at the advanced age of 72 years, she has retired from the service of the postmaster-general on a small but well-deserved pension.

The Modern summer.

The American summer marches on, steadily deteriorating each year, with more hot waves, of longer duration and greater intensity. Summer after summer the record is broken and a new one made. The towns have become mighty ovens, storing up heat by day to emit by night, and even the rural districts have become infected, and this phenomenal summer heat seems to find its way into the most quiet and secluded nooks. We have our weather records to prove that these hot spells are growing worse, and it is becoming a more serious question every day whether they, with the suffering, sickness and death they cause, are not worthy of investigation to determine the possibility of some mitigation. Are these waves due to the modern architecture of our cities, to forest destruction—the cause of so many of our present ills—or to the change in our methods and mode of living? Or is it, after all, merely a hallucination on our part, and is the weather no hotter, but the sun strokes due to too many stimulants, fast living and other excesses? The subject is worth looking into on the part of the meteorologists and other scientists. N. O. Times-Democrat.

When a woman falls overboard she sometimes drowns when there is a life buoy just within a few strokes of her—all because she doesn't happen to see it. Sick people often perish in the same way. Help is within reach, but they don't know just where it is. They become discouraged and disgusted with taking medicines and give up in despair. Mrs. Mary J. Stewart of Saratoga, Santa Clara Co., Cal., in a letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I suffered for fourteen years with female weakness, nervousness and general debility, trying everything I could find to help me—all to no avail. Although I was thoroughly discouraged and disgusted with taking medicine when I heard of Dr. Pierce's medicine, I thought I would try once more to find relief. I took the Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription, and too great praise cannot be given for the rapid relief they gave me. I am now free from the former troubles, and may God bless Dr. Pierce in all his undertakings to cure suffering humanity." Thousands who had reached this forlorn and hopeless condition of body and mind have found new hope and rescue in the use of these marvelous remedies. Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" is sent free in paper covers for 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only, or, cloth bound for 25 stamps. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Rev. J. K. Thompson, of East Calais, Washington Co., Vt., writes concerning this great work: "I am charmed with the style and general subject matter of the entire work. I consider it a valuable addition to my carefully selected library. The purpose to set forth right physical is a noble one. I am also pleased with the refined and at the same time fearless way in which you handle those delicate subjects pertaining to biology, thus making the work admirable fitted for the young."

THE SPECIAL ELECTION.

The proclamation for an election to be held on October 7th will be found in another column of the JOURNAL.

The election is called under a law passed by the last legislature providing for the incorporation of the town of Reno and is for the purpose of determining the wishes of the people of Reno whether bonds to the extent of $150,000 shall be issued for the establishment of a municipal water and electric light works. The City Council have already taken some steps in an experimental way towards obtaining a supply of water for general town and domestic uses, and the members of the board are satisfied that the project can be accomplished without extravagant outlay and the benefits to be derived, if the people decide to issue the bonds and complete the work, will really make the cost in the long run a comparatively small consideration.

The bonds are to be made payable in equal annual installments between the sixth and twentieth years from the date of issuance and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent per annum.

The total amount proposed is $150,000, but the ballots will be printed so that a voter can vote in favor of both water and light, against both or in favor of one and against the other, as his judgment dictates.

It does not follow, if the issuance of the bonds is authorized by the people, that the City Council must spend the whole amount named, but from estimates, it is believed that this would be the maximum sum required and some estimates place the cost far below this figure.

If the people decide to go ahead with the project by voting in favor of the bonds, the City Council will then proceed systematically and legally to carry out the proposed plans by securing a right of way, surveys, estimates covering labor, pipe and material and no more of the money will be expended than is absolutely necessary. If the municipal water works can be established for $75,000, as has been estimated, only this amount will be used.

The members of the Board of Councilmen have no direct personal interest in the matter, other than the interest a taxpayer has in the improvement of the conditions of the town, if he believes it can be done or thinks it necessary. It is the desire of the members to act as the citizens and taxpayers dictate, and the opportunity will be given at the special election to say whether the Board shall proceed as the law directs.

MR. HANNA'S OPPORTUNITY.

An election is to be held in Ohio next November which will determine whether M. A. Hanna, who was appointed United States Senator from that State last March, shall succeed himself. While the candidacy of Mr. Hanna is endorsed by every coal baron, every railroad company and every corporation in the State, there seems to be grave doubts in the mind of the gentleman as to his success at the polls. He had, according to report, about $2,000,000 left over from the campaign fund of 1896, which he will doubtless use to the best advantage in securing the election of his henchmen at the ensuing election, but even that may not avail, for Mr. Hanna is by no means popular even with those who voted for him for a consideration. To insure his election he will use all the means at his command, and, as he said in the Presidential campaign, if he cannot carry the election one way he will secure a majority in another way. It is suggested that one of the ways now open to Mr. Hanna to achieve success is through the federal courts. A Judge in West Virginia, which is conveniently near Ohio, enjoined the leaders of the coal strike from publicly expressing their sentiments. A similar injunction against the advocates of free coinage in Ohio during the campaign might do Mr. Hanna a powerful sight of good. If prompt action is taken the campaign of silver men, which is announced to take place in a few days, might be prevented. That gathering of people, who are opposed to trusts and the single gold standard, is as great a menace to the peace and quietude of the plutocrats as that of the coal miners in West Virginia, and, of course, Mr. Hanna should have no difficulty in getting an obliging Judge to enjoin Messrs. Teller, Towne, Warner and others, who are announced to speak at the meeting, from addressing the assembly. It is an easy and effective method of silencing the opposition, and it will show the power of the trusts and intimidate in a legal manner those who may be disposed to cast their ballots against the great political boss and manipulator for United States Senator from Ohio.

The jury in the Fair-Oraven case failed to agree. Eight favored Mrs. Oraven's claims and four favored the Fair heirs. The fact that the opinions of the jurymen were unchanged after the first ballot and that it was known how the jury stood from the moment the case was submitted to them has created considerable criticism.

Judge Slack yesterday decided to allow a new trial and rendered his decision in favor of the plaintiff Augue, and the interveners, Mrs. Oelrich, Miss Fair and Charles Fair. He expressed no doubt that the pencil wills and letters were forgeries and that the Crocker blanks had no existence prior to 1896.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Goddard and Sharkey are matched for a purse of $10,000. It is thought the contest will take place at San Francisco.

Work has been resumed in a number of the coal mines of Pennsylvania and the general feeling is for an early resumption.

John Quinn, a 17-year-old boy, was murdered at Fargo, N. D., Monday night. He is from San Francisco, where he has relatives.

Senator Geo. L. Wellington resigned the Chairmanship of the Republican State Central Committee of Maryland. His resignation is attributed to a recent defeat.

Leon Hill, charged with murder, was found guilty at Fresno yesterday. Hill is only 18 years of age and the scene in court at the grief of his father and mother was terrible.

The Board of Health of New Orleans announced yesterday five additional suspected cases of yellow fever. Every means is being taken to prevent any spread of the disease and it is believed it can be stamped out.

The feeling against the Sheriff and deputies on account of the late assassination of strikers at Hazleton, Pa., is very bitter. Gangs of marching strikers still appear, but through the influence of the priests they are dispersed or quieted. The priests, however have no plea of mercy for the Sheriff, only to let the law act. The troops are on the ground and General Gobin has declared that he will protect the Sheriff's men as long as he is in command. In the meantime temporary suspensions in the mines are occurring, but the outlook is favorable for peace and quiet.

A TRUE HELPMATE.

Congressman's Wife's Scheme to Gain Popularity.

Great successes often depend upon small considerations, and the wife of a member of congress, a statesman to whom his constituents are wont to point as a man of the people whom flattery cannot divert from his old custom and associations, fully realizes this fact, says the Washington Star. A school friend who had not seen her since girlhood surprised and delighted her with a visit not long since.

"How industrious you are!" exclaimed the visitor.

"In what way?"

"I don't know. I suppose it is fancy work. I know that you used to have a great aversion to plain sewing. But you must be very diligent indeed to have your work basket in this room."

"Would you like to know what I am at work on?"

"Certainly."

"You shall see for yourself. Here it is." And she held up to view a half-knit sock of old-fashioned blue yarn.

"You—don't mean to say that your husband wears things like that?"

"Oh, no. He wouldn't think of wearing them. I have a whole lot that I will give away to anybody who will use them."

"Do you do this for pleasure?"

"No. It isn't at all for pleasure. It's business, and I never occupy myself in that way except when it is absolutely necessary. But I always keep the work handy, and whenever one of the old-fashioned, rural voters of my husband's district comes to make him a call—and you have no idea how many honor us with that attention—I get it out and knit away for dear life. It is a good deal of bother, but it's worth it, for you really can't imagine how it pleases them!"

GETTING REVENGE.

A Little Girl's Remuneration Toward an Aching Molar.

It is claimed that this story originated in Cleveland, a claim which may very well be true, because Cleveland—and especially the east end—has more precocious children to the acre than Boston could boast of in her palmiest days, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. This particular precocious infant lives on a pretty cross street in that favored locality. Not long ago she was troubled with an annoying and persistent toothache. Finally her mamma took her to a dentist and the dentist interviewed the troublesome tooth. After examining it he told her that the best thing to do under the circumstances was to have the tooth extracted, as it contained a very large cavity and this was the seat of the trouble. Bracing herself firmly in the chair she bade him go ahead and remove the ache. After the operation was over she carefully wrapped the tooth in paper and declared she would take it home.

Next day her mamma noticed that she was an unusually good girl, and, upon looking around, located her in a window seat industriously poking sugar into the cavity of the extracted tooth. Her mother demanded the cause of this strange proceeding.

"Why," she said, "I'm pokin' sugar in the old thing just to see it ache!"

Curious Facts About the Toad.

The toad lives ten to forty years, does not begin to produce young until the fourth year, but then lays over 1,000 eggs a year. It has lived two years without food, but cannot live long under water. It never takes dead or motionless food. It takes its food by means of its tongue alone, and it operates this so rapidly that the eye cannot follow its motions. It captures and devours bees, wasps, yellow jackets, ants, beetles, worms, spiders, snails, bugs, grasshoppers, crickets, weevils, caterpillars, moths, etc. The stomach that doesn't flinch at yellow jackets, wasps, blister beetles and click-beetles or pinch bugs would seem to be prepared for anything in the insect line, and it doubtless is. In 24 hours the toad consumes enough food to fill its stomach four times. A single toad will in three months devour over 10,000 insects. If every ten of these would have done one cent damage the toad has saved ten dollars. Evidently the toad is a valuable friend to the farmer, gardener and fruit grower, and can be made especially useful in the greenhouse, garden and berry patch.—Galveston (Tex.) News.

THE ELLEFORD COMPANY.

To Play at the McKissick's Opera House all Next Week.

Miss Jessie Norton, most popular of comedienne, comes to McKissick's Opera House, next Monday evening, September 20, with her vivacity, infectious, good humor and intense magnetism, for a limited engagement, supported by W. J. Elleford, the versatile character comedian, and his renowned company producing the greatest of all melodramas, the "Stowaway," to be followed by the "The Corner Grocery," "Mr. Barnes of New York," "Mrs. Partington," "Kidnapped," "The Runaway Wife," and "Humpty Dumpty" for Saturday matinee.

No actress on the stage to-day has more good-natured expression than Jessie Norton. She possesses strong magnetic qualities and through all her gay badinage, rollicking geniality, spontaneous sallies and inimitable characteristics, never ceases to be thoroughly womanly. She is the embodiment of mirth and her temperament is full of sterling good nature.

In "The Stowaway," she will be seen to great advantage in the character of Chuchey, a new-born.

Mr. Elleford owns the sole right to the production of the plays in his repertoire and is the only manager in America who has ever been able to secure permission to produce them at popular prices. Seats for the entire engagement can be secured at Lake's.

Indian Hop Pickers Return Greatly Dissatisfied.

The Indian hop pickers seemed to have had an unlucky year for their business and look upon their misfortunes in a gravely superstitious manner. The late great railroad accident west of Reno sent six of their number to the happy hunting grounds besides badly injuring others, all of whom were on their way to the hop fields of California. Most of these were Putes and although the first shock of the accident wore off to the extent that quite a number went over to Sacramento to work, they have nearly all returned and say they "no go no more."

To add to the uneasiness felt among the red skins, five Washoes who accompanied a delegation of their tribe into the hop fields died in California and others are very sick. The Washoes think it strange that none of the Putes died in the Golden State and that the deaths there all occurred among them, yet can't understand why the Putes were especially selected for the railroad accident.

The returning Indians of both tribes seem to be of the same opinion, viz: "Galeponny not much good, too many Jap, no good eatem, no good sleepem Injun heap die, not much money, load heap killum."

Believes in Patronizing Home Merchants.

Captain Gosse of the Riverside has practically demonstrated his belief in patronizing home industry and home merchants. In erecting the annex to the Riverside Hotel he gave the preference to home mechanics at an advanced figure and also the furnishing of building material, plumbing and fittings for the new house to home merchants.

He now comes forward, notwithstanding greatly reduced prices and special inducements offered by a Sacramento firm for the furnishings of the annex, ignores them and gives the contract for carpets, bedding and furniture to the local firm of Donnel & Steinmetz. The furniture is now being unpacked and set up. The carpets are of golden and silver grey patterns and of the very latest designs. The bedroom sets are of oak, complete and very handsome. The mattresses are of silk floss, something new and very fine. The hall and stair carpets are of the latest patterns and the window shades match the carpets. Every detail has been carefully studied by the furnishers and the materials and goods are of the finest quality of the class.

Messrs. Donnel & Steinmetz are prepared to furnish a residence, hotel, lodge-room or any kind or size of an apartment where the articles required come within their line and at prices that defy competition.

An Extensive Business for Sale.

Cowles finds that he cannot devote the proper amount of time to his Grocery Business at Wadsworth and hereby announces he will sell the building at Wadsworth in which is located his General Merchandise Store, the lot on which it stands, a large fire-proof cellar, the stock of goods on hand, the good will, etc. The goods are all fresh, nothing shop worn. The business is a prosperous one and the only reason for selling is to enable Mr. Cowles to give all of his time to other industries in which he is engaged. Wadsworth is the best business town in Nevada to-day and this opening offers a splendid opportunity for some good man to locate in Wadsworth. Call on R. H. Cowles at his store.

Sam Armanko, Al. Helmsold, Fred White and C. C. Hopkins, the Rambler bicycle man, left at an early hour this morning on a duck hunting expedition. The boys had furnished "Hop" with a 22-caliber target pistol and he promised the reporter a duck. Fred White carried his laugh with him.

Sam Armanko said, "That's all right, the boys say duck, I shoot," and Al. Helmsold told the reporter confidentially that he had made up his mind to tackle the first bunch of fules, get lost, make a sneak and walk home. The larder was well supplied.

HE DROPPED HIS PIPE.

And the Loss Naturally Caused Him Some Annoyance.

One afternoon last summer I was standing on the great suspension bridge just below Niagara falls looking at the great cataract and admiring the wonderful colors of the green and blue river 200 feet below. Several workmen were engaged in painting the bridge, and I became interested in their operations. It required no little engineering skill to rig up an apparatus by which to enable a painter to traverse the giant rope cables which radiate from the center of the bridge, fan-shaped, toward either end of the structure. A painter's platform four feet square was suspended from one of these cables by a trolley arrangement, a grooved wheel running on the cable. By means of a rope attached to this wheel a man on the bridge could draw the platform from the river bank—the terminus of the cable—to the bridge above, and as the platform passed along the cable a workman sitting on a common chair on the platform would paint the great iron rope above his head and behind the trolley wheel.

I was especially interested in the work of a Swede, who, perched on a small platform, was painting one of the Canadian braces. He had begun at the end of the cable on the Canadian shore far below, and had been pulled up the cable's steep incline toward the bridge until perhaps two-thirds of his journey had been completed. There was absolutely nothing but air between him and the seething river 200 feet below; but there he sat, on a swinging platform, methodically plying his brush and complacently smoking a short clay pipe.

How it happened I don't know. But the man on the bridge suddenly let the rope slip out of his hands. There was a sharp cry of alarm from the startled painter as the platform began to spin down the incline, with constantly increasing momentum. It seemed as if the poor fellow must inevitably be dashed against the rocky precipice and tumble into the river a mangled corpse.

The slack of the rope on the bridge, however, became entangled around a brace and the perilous descent came to a sudden end. The flying platform stopped with a jerk. The chair, a pall of paint, a brush and a clay pipe went sailing into space. The painter caught a corner of the platform just in time to save himself from following them.

Two minutes later the platform had been pulled up to the bridge, and the Swede was given a chance to stretch his legs again in safety. The man on the bridge had not a word to say. He was as pale as a corpse and trembled like a leaf. But the Swede did have something to say, and he said it without the slightest tremor of emotion in his voice. "You," he remarked, "Ay tank you skal land me your pipe. Laik 'ig fool Ay drop mine." Chicago

MAKE THEMSELVES USEFUL.

Dogs Perform Many Services for the Miners in Frozen Alaska.

Dogs have suddenly become more valuable than horses in this section of the northwest. This state of affairs results from the great and growing demand for dogs to be used in hauling sledges in the Yukon country, Alaska. While thousands of horses for which their owners cannot get three dollars a head are roaming over the plains of eastern Washington and Oregon, good-sized dogs are bringing from $15 to $30 each in the local market. At Juneau their value is double what it is here, and on the Yukon river a good dog brings from $100 to $150. To the Yukon miner the dog has become what the reindeer is to the cowboy of Texas and Mexico—a beast of service and a most valuable one.

Every steamer sailing for Alaska for three months past has borne northward several dozen dogs destined for service in front of heavily laden sledges. They are taken by boat to Dyea, at the head of salt water navigation, and there put into harness to assist in hauling outfits and supplies over the Chilcot pass and down the farther slope to the series of fresh water lakes, forming the headwaters of the Yukon's tributaries. Up to May 1st the ice broke up, dog teams were out, and the smooth surface of the lakes was a picture of peace.

The sledge dogs are too valuable not to be well taken care of where that is possible. Their owners' first thought in this respect is to obtain plenty of food for them. Their food consists principally of fish, usually salmon, caught in the Yukon river by the natives. An ordinary dog will eat daily two pounds of dried salmon, which equals seven pounds of fresh fish. At Forty Mile last winter dried salmon sold at from 20 to 50 cents a pound, and bacon that was fit only for dogs to eat sold for 37½ cents a pound. In some of the larger camps on the Yukon dog boarding houses have been established, where the animals are properly cared for at from six to fifteen dollars a month, according to the season and the price of dog food.—Forest and Stream.

Russian Clergy.

The clergy of Russia are divided into two classes—the white, or village, clergy, who must all be married, and the black clergy, or monks, who are vowed to celibacy. The higher dignitaries of the church are invariably chosen from this last class. The great majority of them have no particular duties to perform, and a movement is on foot for utilizing them as assistants to parish priests in villages.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Plain Pastry.
Having everything ice-cold, and measured ready, put on the board three cups of flour, and mix through it thoroughly, without using the hands, a teaspoonful each of fine salt and sugar. Pile the flour in a heap, and make a well in the center, and put in one cupful of butter. With a sharp silver knife cut the butter in little pieces, and gradually mix with the flour. When well incorporated, add a little at a time, about a cupful of ice water, or as much as is needed to make the paste so that you can lift it from the board with the knife. Lift from the board, redredge with flour, and return, and roll lightly, with only the weight of the rolling-pin, from you, into a thin sheet. Fold from you, and roll again, always in the same direction; repeat, and turn in the edges, and roll up into a tight roll, and lay away on the ice for at least a day to ripen. This should be baked in an oven at about 400 degrees Fahr. When ready to use cut off the end of the pastry roll and slice large enough to make the cover required. A little practice will enable you to so gauge this that there will be no trimmings left, and practice will give you skill to roll the covers out that you can roll them nice and round. The time used in making this pastry should not be over five minutes. —Washington Home Magazine.

HINTS FOR THE HOME.
A tablespoonful of pulverized borax added to a pailful of water in which fine flannels are washed will keep them soft and white.
Javelle water will take out spots from clothing if they are dipped into it for a moment and then into boiling water. The yellow tinge will come out by bleaching.
Paint, after it has become dry and hard, can be removed from clothing by using equal parts of ammonia and turpentine. First saturate the spots and wash out in soapsuds.
Grease spots can be removed from carpets by first covering with powdered chalk, then with soft brown paper, and rubbing over the spots so protected with a hot iron. This process is exceedingly useful for dining-room use.
Grass green enamel is vying with the plain unvarnished willow for popularity for tables and chairs for summer furnishings. While the willow used in its natural state is never, the green will not soil so quickly, furnishes better and is really prettier.

Mrs. Bergliot Ibsen, who recently made her public debut as a singer at Christiania, is the daughter-in-law of Henrik Ibsen and her father is Bjornson, the dramatist.
Conan Doyle has just completed at Hinchad a very fine mansion, which is the envy of all beholders. Its back opens on the road in the center of the village and the sweeping terrace of the front commands a view miles across the valley right down to Blackdown, the scene of the life and death of Tennyson.
Now that diplomatic relations have been resumed Mr. W. H. D. Haggard has been appointed minister-resident in Caracas. He is a brother of Rider Haggard, the novelist, and has had nearly 30 years' experience in diplomatic service. Since November, 1894, he has been consul-general at Tunis.
